

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A disc changer comprising:

a magazine for storing a plurality of arranged discs;

5 a magazine holder allowing insertion of the magazine from outside and accommodating the magazine inserted;

a disc carrier for carrying a selected disc from the magazine received in the magazine holder;

10 a transporter for transporting the disc carrier in the disc arrangement direction; and a disc playing section for playing the selected disc carried from the magazine, wherein the magazine holder has restriction member facing one surface of the magazine received in the magazine holder,

15 wherein the restriction member server to restrict insertion direction of the magazine by getting into contact with the one surface of the magazine being inserted into the magazine holder.

20 2. A disc changer according to claim 1, wherein a plurality of restriction members are provided to downwardly press the one surface of the magazine.

3. A disc changer according to claim 1, wherein a plurality
25 of restriction members are integrally formed with the magazine holder

4. A disc changer according to claim 2, wherein at least part of the plurality of restriction members are provided in the vicinity of a magazine insertion opening, and formed in an area of the magazine holder extending from a front portion to a deep 5 portion along the magazine insertion direction.

5. A disc changer according to claim 4, wherein at least part of the plurality of restriction members are provided in a manner
such that their end portions close to the magazine insertion 10 opening can get into contact with the one surface of the magazine being inserted into the magazine holder.

15

20